

Dr. Zevit received his medical degree from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and completed both residency in pediatrics and a fellowship in pediatric gastroenterology at Schneider Children's Medical Center of Israel where he continues to work today as a senior gastroenterologist and lecturer at Tel-Aviv university. Dr. Zevit coordinates the treatment of patients with eosinophilic gastrointestinal diseases as well as responsibilities for pediatric video capsule endoscopy. Dr. Zevit is a member of the steering committee of the ESPGHAN working group on eosinophilic gastrointestinal diseases through which he participated in drafting the ESPGHAN pediatric EoE guidelines, and has recently participated in AGREE - an international consensus meeting of experts in EoE and PPI responsive eosinophilia. He leads several international collaborations in the field of eosinophilic esophagitis.