Dear Conference Participants,

It is a great pleasure to have you here at University of Haifa during the 2012 annual meaningful international conference aimed to unveil complex epistemological, theoretical, methodological, and empirical issues concerning Israeli multiculturalism in comparative perspective. The AIS is an international academic organization with about 650 registered members from all over the world who are professional scholars of the Israeli society in many different disciplines and from various perspectives. These scholars will present during the 2012 Haifa conference about 600 research papers in various panels, roundtables, and workshops. The conference has three plenary sessions- Sami Michael a famous author, social activist and the President of the Association for Civil Rights in Israel, is our guest main speaker. Additionally, we offer two plenary sessions on social justice and education in multicultural setting that include two Nobel Prize laureates: Aaron Ciechanover and Dan Shechtman. Also, we are welcoming the graduate students who partake in the graduate students' workshops. It is our mission to encourage scholarship and a cutting edge research of the Israeli state and society.

Many efforts were invested in organizing this conference. I would like to thank University of Haifa for its generous hospitality and impressive organizational efforts to establish and manage the 2012 AIS conference. Many thanks from the bottom of our hearts to Professor Gur Alroey the Chair of the History School and the 2012 AIS Program Chair and to Mrs. Tami Lavyel the Executive Coordinator for her careful and efficient administrative coordination. The Program Committee members and Gur Alroey as its Chair had to review hundreds of research papers and did a masterful job. They deserve our deepest gratitude. No words are sufficient to describe the assistance of the Faculty of Humanities at University of Haifa. The AIS officers, its Vice President Professor Menachem Hofnung, the Treasurer, Professor Ilan Ben Ami, and Dr. Amnon Cavari the Executive Officer were very helpful as well. We strongly believe that the Haifa international conference may contribute to the continued scholarly discourse about the multicultural facets of the Israeli society.

Sincerely,

Professor Gad Barzilai
AIS President
Professor of Law, International Studies & Political Science
University of Washington; University of Haifa Law School

MARGINAL AT THE CENTER A Guerilla Fighter for Ideas The Life Story of a Public Sociologist Baruch Kimmerling

A self-proclaimed guerrilla fighter for ideas, Baruch Kimmerling was an outspoken critic, prolific writer, and "public" sociologist. While he lived at the center of the Israeli society in which he was involved as both a scientist and a concerned citizen, he nevertheless felt marginal because of his unconventional worldview, his empathy for the oppressed and his exceptional sense of universal justice, which were at odds with prevailing views. In this autobiography, the author describes the circumstances that brought him and his family to Israel, the development of his understanding of Israeli and Palestinian histories, of the narratives each society tells itself, and of the implacable "situation"—along with predictions of some of the most disturbing developments that are taking place right now as well as solutions he hoped were still possible. Kimmerling's deep concern for Israel's well-being, peace and success also reveals that he was in effect a devoted Zionist, contrary to the claims of his detractors. He dreamed of a genuinely democratic Israel, a country able to embrace all of its citizens without discrimination and to adopt peace as its most important objective. It is to this dream that this posthumous translation from Hebrew has been dedicated.

The Taub Center for Israel Studies

The Taub Center for Israel Studies (TCIS) at New York University was established in 2003 with the generous support of the Henry and Marilyn Taub Foundation to advance the study of contemporary Israel. The Center is part of the Skirball Department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies.

Through a wide array of courses, original research, and publications by students and faculty, the TCIS endeavors to teach Israel as it is taught in Israel: openly and without any political agenda. Because the TCIS approach is scholarly and not political, it is the interests of the students and faculty that drive its programming and provide its creative energy.

The faculty affiliated with the TCIS represent the most distinguished scholars in the field. The TCIS is enhanced by visiting professors and post-doctoral fellows from Israel and around the globe who teach courses relating to various aspects of Israeli history, society, culture, and politics.

The TCIS's activities and scholars focus on attracting students to the study of Israel at the undergraduate and graduate level, and de-politicizing learning about Israel while establishing it as a subject of scholarly debate, rather than conflict.

 Association for Israel Studies Conference
 June 24 - June 26, 2013
 Los Angeles, California

The Younes & Soraya Nazarian Center for Israel Studies promotes the study of the history, culture and society of Israel as a modern Jewish and democratic state. It sponsors teaching, research and public education to provide a broad understanding of Israel and its place in the region and the world.

Dear Colleagues,

The UCLA Nazarian Center for Israel Studies was established in 2010 with a generous gift from the Younes & Soraya Nazarian Family Foundation. Committed to the study of Israel in its regional and global contexts, the Center is ideally situated within the UCLA International Institute — the nexus for international teaching and research at UCLA, which comprises over 20 multi-disciplinary centers studying different countries and regions of the world. Los Angeles itself is an added bonus: the U.S. city with the second-largest Jewish and Israeli communities, alive with countless and diverse cultural activities, it provides a stimulating and exciting environment for the Nazarian Center to establish itself as a premier source of scholarship and education on Israel.

We look forward to welcoming you to Los Angeles and to the beautiful UCLA campus next year.

Best wishes,
 Arieh Saposnik
 Director, UCLA Nazarian Center

THE IMMIGRANT AND HIS SHADOWS IN MODERN HISTORY

Interdisciplinary Research Seminar
University of Haifa

Leaving a homeland is always an extreme situation. Millions of people from different continents and cultures uprooted themselves from their homeland and went to new and unknown territories. These included slaves who were sent from Africa against their will to work in plantations in America and the Caribbean Islands; persecuted religious groups who sought refuge and freedom in a new world; Irishmen who deserted a stubborn land that refused to supply food for a hungry population; Italians whose sources of livelihood had failed; Jews who were surrounded by a hostile and intolerant society; women who were sent as prostitutes to penal colonies and brothels in Buenos Aires, New York, Cairo and Jaffa.

The migration of individuals and groups imprinted its mark on human history. Throughout the generations, from earliest times until today, historical sources are replete with evidences about the uprooting and wanderings of populations from various territories and their resettling in new ones. Many different and varied reasons have impelled ethnic groups to emigrate, whether geographical (climate), economical, political, psychological, or ideological. And yet, though the immigrant is certainly not a new historical figure, yet its massive presence in the last centuries engages new questions which we would like to raise in this new research forum.

Migration seems to be a multifaceted phenomenon which accompanied each major historical change in the last centuries (state-building, religious reforms, nationalism, industrialization, colonization-decolonization, communism, fascism, neo-liberalism, global market and post-colonial reactions). Each change seems to produce its migrants, its way of rejecting or attracting people, its way of mobilizing ever greater populations – and this along with an always greater mobilization of resources, goods, capital, knowledge and representations. This process of mobilization (best conceptualized by the Heidegger's concept of Gestell – unframing – and its later elaborations) has begun before our last century – where it became invasive – and its progressive acceleration and globalization could be seen retrospectively as one of the central features of modern history. Seen this way, the immigrant is not only a negative product or a transitional figure of regime-changes and collapses, but a central character in the ever growing mobilization which defines modernity.

The proposed seminar will attempt to examine migration from a comparative perspective that crosses the boundaries of time and places and in the light of three main assumptions. The first is that migration is an individual experience (even if the emigrant is part of an ethnic group or a particular society). The second, deriving directly from the first, is that it is necessary to study it from a comparative viewpoint. Although the exiles, emigrants and outcasts were different in origin and cultural background, the process of contending with their uprooting and transition to a new country involved many points of similarity. If we can find the resemblances and the broadest possible common denominator we may better understand what is the new relationship to human, geographical and techno-political environment that the migrant is bringing to the fore. The third assumption is more concerned with philosophical, literary and artistic representations or implications of migration. By focusing on different historical experiences of migration and on their cultural elaborations, we would like to develop a conceptual approach in which the movement experienced by the migrant enables us to perceive the mobilization of societies, environment, knowledge, languages and representations.

The Seminar will deal with all types of emigration and its representation: voluntary, displaced persons, slavery, labor migration, refugees, and so on. It will review migration in all its aspects from the early modern period until the first decades of the decades of the post-colonial period. We invite scholars of different fields (history, philosophy, literature, history of art, geography, political science, sociology) to join this forum and to send us an abstract of their contribution to our monthly seminar. Applicants are invited to send their proposal to the following email: ctohensk@univ.haifa.ac.il

Deadline: 30th of June

Seminar conveners: Prof. Gur Aroey, Dr. Marcos Silber and Dr. Cedric Cohen Scall.
