

Assaf Ben Shoham – Biography

I am a resident in internal medicine at Shaare-Zedek Medical Center in Jerusalem. I hold an MD from the School of Medicine at The Hebrew University, a PhD in Economics from Harvard University, Massachusetts, and a BSc in Mathematics from The Hebrew University. I was a senior researcher at Myers-JDC-Brookdale Institute, conducting applied, empirical research in diverse areas, including labor economics, disability and health, and currently engaged in clinical research. I am interested in clinical research as well as theoretical and applied research in public health and health economics.